WOMAN MAIL CARRIER.

Twice a Week Plucky Sarah M. Burks
Traverses a Wild, Desolate Region on Horseback.

Miss Sarah M. Burks is probably the only woman mail carrier in the west, and her route is one of the most desolate conceivable. From St. John's to Jimtown, A. T., she travels twice a week, covering a distance of 203 miles, as the towns are 52 miles apart. The intervening country is practically a wilderness, the settlers being few and far between.

It would be difficult to imagine a more uninviting region than that traversed by Miss Burks. What tiny streams are found there are poisoned with alkali. Navajo Indians and occasionally an Apache are somewhat plentiful, but white men seldom go there, and then only to get the gold, silver and copper. Nothing in the way of vegetation can grow there. It is simply a region of rich minerals deposited in titanic volcanic action ages ago.

MISS SARAH M. BURKS.
(How She Carries the Mail in the Wilds of Arizona.)

Along the western border of this desolate, uncanny wilderness Miss Burks rides twice a week. Generally she is alone, and if she has a companion he is likely to be a miner, a commercial traveler, or, maybe, a lawyer, who has rented a horse from Miss Burks' father, and she is to collect payment and to see to the care of the horse. She is always armed with shooting irons, and when a child she was the crack shot of the mining camp at Harqua Hala.

Her hat is a white straw. She wears short skirts of blue serge, a corduroy or canvas jacket, leather leggings and heavy shoes.

AN ASBESTOS HOUSE.

It Will Be Inhabited by Count Wal-dersee, the German Commander in Chief in China.

The picture is from a photograph of the interior of the fireproof asbestos house which the German commander in chief, Count Von Waldersee, is taking with him to China. The house, which is built throughout of asbestos, is 17 feet in height and has a frontage of 60 feet. It contains seven large rooms, four in the front and three in the back. It can be taken out of the packing cases in which it is carried and set up ready for occupancy in eight hours, and in case of an emergency can be taken down and packed in two hours and a half. The outer walls of the house are formed of two slates of asbestos, with an air space between, thus making it easy to heat in the winter and comparatively cool in hot weather. When packed ready for transportation the house is contained in a number of comparatively small packing cases, fitted with iron handles, so that where railroads do not run and it is not possible to use animals they may be carried by hand. It is said that Count Von Waldersee will make this queer house his headquarters during the whole period of his stay in the orient. The members of his personal staff will also be quartered in the asbestos house. The house was planned and constructed by a German firm in a single week.

Back at His Starting Point.
The crooked streets of Boston are always a source of wonder to visitors. A Cincinnati man, who was a guest at the Tremont house, made up his mind to go out to see the "Hub." As he had three hours at his disposal, he wandered around, leisurely but aimlessly, until he was tired with his long walk. He calculated that he must have covered nearly ten miles, when he stepped up to a policeman on the corner, and asked to be directed to the Tremont house. "Well, sir," said the policeman, "you might cut across the street to the front door, but if I were you, I'd walk over on the 'crossing.' He was exactly opposite the hotel.

THE BENGAL LANCERS.

All England Is Proud of the Bravery Displayed by Them on the March to Peking.

The magnificent performance of the Bengal lancers, on the march of the allied forces to Peking, once more draws attention to the splendid soldiers of which England's Indian forces are composed. Ever since Lady Butler painted her famous picture, Tent-pegging, the Bengal lancers have appealed to the mind of the British public as one of the finest regiments of cavalry in the world. There is little doubt that for perfect discipline and for supreme courage they have few equals in the world.

But, says London Black and White, although less known to the majority of stay-at-home Britons, the other components of our native army are none the less deserving of our admiration. Most of them, like the Afridi and Sikhs in the northwest and the Gurkhas in the northeast, were originally our enemies, and it is the mutual respect born of many a hard tussle that has led to the excellent relations subsisting between these forces and Tommy Atkins. The Gurkhas were the first race in India to check the victorious advance of the British arms. It was in 1814 that we first made their acquaintance and learnt what manner of people we had to deal with. During the attack on Kalanga in that year, the garrison, which consisted of 600 Gurkhas, repeatedly repulsed the assaults of an entire British division, killing Gen. Gillespie, and putting 31 other officers and 750 men out of action. When a two days' bombardment ultimately led them to abandon the post, the survivors, 90 in number, cut their way through our troops, and made good their escape, after having retarded a whole division for a month. During the same siege a Gurkha came out through the fire of our batteries waving his hand. The fire was stopped, and then it transpired that he had had his lower jaw shattered, and had come out to have it dressed by his enemy. His wound was at once attended to, and as soon as it was dressed and bound up, he promptly asked—and, needless to say, obtained—permission to return to his own people, and fight against us again.

In the cases of both classes of hill tribes, both the Gurkhas and the latest addition to our native army, the Afridi, fighting is a natural instinct. They fight as the Britisher takes part in field sports—it is as much a part of their very being, and is undertaken in just the same happy-go-lucky, dare-devil spirit.

EDWARD ASAHEL BIRGE.

25 years. He came to Madison in 1875 as instructor in natural history, and one year later he was made professor of zoology. In 1891 he was elected dean of the college of letters and science. Dr. Birge is not only a scientist of eminent reputation, but is likewise an authority of international note in his line. After his graduation in 1875 from Williams college he spent two years in Harvard and received from that university his degree of doctor of philosophy. Later he went abroad for a course in histology at the University of Leipzig. In 1897 he was made honorary doctor of science by the Western university of Pennsylvania. He is 49 years old.

Densely Populated Spot.

The most densely populated spot in the United States is a block of tenement houses in New York bounded by Sixty-first and Sixty-second streets and Tenth and Eleventh avenues. In this block, the census showed, live 3,867 persons, most of them negroes.

A very pretty custom obtains among certain classes by which the newly married pair starts a savings bank for the child yet to be. Every day a penny or a dime, as the case may be, is dropped into the bank to swell the fund, and this practice is kept up until the child is old enough to save for itself. The parents have the right theory but how rarely they carry it to its broad application. Every mother is performing a noble duty for her child what money cannot influence—happiness or misery. The nervous mother will have a nervous child. The irritable and fearful mother cannot have a happy and cheerful child. In mind and body the child will reflect the mother's condition.

The best preparation for motherhood is made by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Its perfect control over the sensitive feminine organism gives it a natural influence over the mind. It banishes anxiety and fear. It does away with the misery of morning sickness. It gives vitality and elasticity to the organs peculiarly feminine, and makes the trial of motherhood easy and brief. It makes healthy mothers, capable of nursing and nourishing the babes they bring into the world. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant. Accept no substitute.

Mrs. Axel Kjer, of Gordonville, Cape Girardeau Co., Mo., writes: "When I look at my little boy I feel it my duty to write to you. Perhaps some one will see my testimony and be led to use your 'Favorite Prescription' and be blessed in the same way. This is my fifth child and the only one who came to maturity; the others having died from lack of nourishment—so the doctor said. I was not sickly in any way and this time I just thought I would try your 'Prescription.' I took nine bottles and to my surprise it carried me through, and gave us as fine a little boy as ever was. Weighed ten and one-half pounds. He is now five months old, has never been sick a day, and is so strong that everybody who sees him wonders at him. He is so playful and holds himself up so well. I would like to see this in print for so many have asked me, 'Do you think these are the testimonials of the people, or has Dr. Pierce just made them up and printed them?'"
